

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PROPOSES URBAN RENEWAL

A plan to bring back onto the tax rolls land covering about 40 acres, in South Wilmington, was revealed by the Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday night, in a joint meeting of the Industrial Committee of the Chamber and the Planning Board of Wilmington.

The land, most of which is zoned for industry, is part of an old real estate plan dating back to 1887, with small lots of land measuring 35 feet by 70 feet, most of which have been taken for taxes several times, and sold again by the town. The plan was known as Section D, of the Woburn City Land Company, and the land lies south of Eames Street, and west of the old Woburn Branch of the Boston & Maine Railroad.

The area proposed for Urban Renewal measures about 1800 feet long, beside the railroad, and, as proposed by the Chamber of Commerce, would extend a little over 700 feet west of the old railroad, which is now used by the B & M merely for temporary storage of railroad freight cars.

The plan was unfolded by Stanley Webber, Executive Secretary of passed in 1964, for the improvement of land in which the ownership of industrially zoned land was hopelessly tangled.

Four members would be appointed, with a fifth being appointed by the Commonwealth. At the next election the members of the authority would be elected, much in the same manner as the Selectmen, or other elected officials of Wilmington.

The Commonwealth, he said, would advance 75% of the necessary funds, and there was enough value in land owned by the town to be considered as the remaining 25%, without the necessity of putting up any cash, by the town.

The greatest part of the 40 acres of land is now town property or land which the town has liens for the non-payment of taxes.

The taxes, based on the 1964

Stanley Webber was given the credit by the Chamber officials for having originated the project back in 1961.

New Law

As unfolded by Webber, the Board of Selectmen would be asked to appoint an Urban Renewal Authority, which would work under a new statute of Massachusetts, ills, now derived from the area, amounts to about $400, Webber told the Planning Board, and if the titles are cleared, through Urban Renewal, and the land sold without improvement, it would be worth about $180,000 and would bring in about $7,000, without buildings.

Putting it another way, Webber said that the land was now worth, to the town, about $75 an acre and if cleared through the proposed Urban Renewal project would be worth about $4,500 an acre.

Bob Peters Scores

Official Feathers Rumpled

Town Manager Bob Peters is earning a name for himself, by the changes that he is making in the Town Hall. He started last week, taking up where Gerry Bouchard had left off, and by Tuesday afternoon there was an entirely different look to the place.

The Principal Assessor, Fred Grimes, is the person who came in for most attention, but other officials have been the subject of Peters' ideas.

Last week Peters wrote letters to Grimes and to the Public Health Officer, Ernie Romano, saying that inasmuch as they work in town, they should live in town.

When Grimes returned from a town-paid trip to an Assessor's Conference in Nova Scotia, last week, it was to learn that his office was being shifted.

All the Assessors are now in the back room of the 'wing' of the Town Hall. There isn't much space, with only four square feet of 'public' space, for the people, and not much more for the Assessors and their clerks.

Grimes, naturally, wasn't happy. He had had a private office to himself. It is reported that he called the Town Counsel on the telephone, and asked if he could do anything, only to be told that 'The Town Manager is the Boss'. Grimes did protest to Peters, saying that there were times when he had to have conversations which were confidential in nature.

Peters told Grimes that if he couldn't say something before the other Assessors and/or clerks, he shouldn't say it.

There is a new water cooler, which gives both cold and hot water, which was installed this week, but Peters didn't order it.

He has caused all the filing cabinets in the Town Hall proper to be re-arranged, moving desks all around. The idea, he says, is to have space where public hearings can be properly conducted.

By moving the Assessors into the back room the Planning Board lost the room in which they met, and Peters, Tuesday afternoon, said they would have to meet in the cellar. The chairman called Mrs. Drew, Chairman of the Selectmen, and instead the Planning Board met in the same teak-paneled room where the Selectmen meet.

But meeting in the teak-paneled room wasn't all roses for the Planning Board. Former Town Manager Gerry Bouchard, before he left, shifted the office of the Town Engineer up into the Highway Department garage. Tuesday night the Planning Board wanted to look

FIRST PEAS??? Ronald Bodnar, 19, of Woburn Street, was the first person to report picking peas, for dinner, this year, in Wilmington. He picked for dinner, Sunday. The peas were grown in a one acre garden which Ronald cultivates (without a weed) in back of the home of his grandfather, Steve Shanniak, on West Street. Bodnar is in line to be awarded the Golden Pea Spoon, for the first peas in Wilmington in 1965, if no earlier contestants show up.

ON MOSQUITOES

Half a dozen times, every day, there is a call to the Police Station by someone, complaining about mosquitoes. The police, of course, are gentlemanly about it, and they explain that the Moth Department is around spraying at 4 am, before the caller is awake.

Monday, in the Selectmen's meeting, the Temporary Town Manager, Bob Peters, told the Selectmen that the town was spending thousands of dollars in an effort to get rid of mosquitoes, but that the rain of this past weekend had washed away the spray. There was a half-plea, for aerial spraying, which the Selectmen ignored.

To put things into perspective, let it be known that the Town Crier is against the idea of general spraying, for mosquitoes. It might possibly approve of very, very limited spraying, but even there the Town Crier feels that more harm than good is the result.

The Town Crier is just naturally suspicious of the latest chemical innovations which are being promoted, sometimes by modern science, and other times by people who have screened-in porches, and air conditioning, but insist on sitting outside in the evening, in a locale which is next to a swamp.

DDT, which had its introduction in World War II, when it was used to delouse the grinning urchins of Naples, is not a blessing. Mosquitoes are becoming enured to the product, but the birds and the bees, and even the little Fiddler Crabs, down on Cape Cod are in a losing battle for life.

Have you seen any bluebirds recently?

ON GAS STATIONS

The Board of Selectmen, in their wisdom, have for the past several years seen fit to deny new gas station permits along Main Street and Lowell Street.

One of the arguments advanced is that Wilmington does not want these streets to become a 'gasoline alley', and another, by some people at least, is that there are too many gas stations, and the operators cannot make a living.

The first argument might possibly have some validity.

The second argument is another question.

Gerry Bouchard, former Town Manager at the time when the famous (or infamous) increase of taxes on industrial and business property was put through, stated that it wasn't the town's worry about whether or not a Wilmington business failed because it could not pay its taxes.

The same argument, if it is true, could be extended to the operators and would be operators of gas stations.

Owners of property which is highly taxed because of its zoning should perhaps have the right to erect all the gas stations they want - and then they, too, may join the starving (?) operators.

ON TOWN MANAGERS

The Board of Selectmen are currently considering the good and bad points of 24 candidates for the post of Town Manager of Wilmington. The good and bad points, of course, are as listed by the hopeful candidates.

It is to be presumed that two of these twenty-four are Robert Peters, Town Accountant and Temporary Town Manager, and Stanley Webber, former Assessor and Temporary Town Manager.

Would you feel like a villain, if you found out too late that your insurance was inadequate?

Bedell Brothers Insurance Agency, Inc.
402 Main St. OLiver 8-9116 Wilmington, Mass.

The Town Crier is not attempting to be chauvinistic, but it believes that there would have to be a most extraordinary candidate among the remaining 22, to cause the Selectmen to overlook the two home-grown candidates.

In recent years the town has had some pretty sad experiences with the imported variety of Town Managers.

Wilmington, the town that was going places, and had a fine reputation for lower taxes, is just another town today. One has only to look at some of the neighbors, to see this. North Reading, for instance, with no Uncle Avco to pay 19% of its tax burden, has declared a $38 tax rate for this year - and Wilmington might even be higher than that.

Both Mr. Peters and Mr. Webber are aware of the problems of Wilmington. If a new manager were to come here, he would take a year to become fully cognizant, and then would probably leave at the end of the second year, for greener climes.

In the eyes of this paper, the best possible choice for Town Manager of Wilmington is to be found right here at home.

NANCY SLATER GRADUATES

Operation Head Start

Thirty-eight children took their physical examinations, Tuesday morning, during a three hour session in the High School, for the Head Start program in Wilmington.

The physicals were complete examinations, with Dr. Gerald Fagan in charge, and several assistants, including blood and urine technicians.

The program is to start on July 6th, and continue to August 13th.

Mrs. Fred Sullivan, Mrs. Robert McCabe, and Mrs. John TenDyke, who are to be assistants in the program, are attending a six day course at Tufts University this week, which also includes two evening sessions, on Tuesday and Thursday.

Registrations can still be made for the program, for children who will start school in the fall. Registrations are in charge of Harold Driscoll, at Wilmington High School.

BROOKLINE SCHOOLS COME TO WILMINGTON

The work-study program of the Wilmington Public Schools is currently the subject of a study by the Public Schools of Brookline, which is now instituting a similar program.

Wilmington's schools, by their Work-Study program, kept 15 youngsters in school until graduation, instead of leaving for work, this year. It was the subject of a comment by the Principal of the High School, at the 1965 graduation.

Brookline started a similar program for the 1964-65 season, and hopes to enlarge it.

Thomas Bowling, Chairman of the Work-Study program at Brookline visited the Wilmington schools last Friday, as part of his study.

The State Department of Vocational Education has recommended the Wilmington program as the best in the state at the present time.

Dear Mr. Neilson,
Youth Concerts at Symphony Hall is one of the finest enriching opportunities available within the area. We, acting as town co-chairmen, are presently accepting applications for the 1965-66 series.

The programs are planned to stimulate an interest in good music both classical and contemporary. They are played by the finest musicians of the Boston Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Harry Ellis Dickson. The purpose has met with rewarding success. More than half of the fifty-five young people from Wilmington who attended for the first time last year are planning to return. Even parents have expressed a desire to join us and they are welcome.

The concerts will take place on Saturday mornings at 11 am on November 6, January 15, and March 26. A bus will leave at 10 am and return by 1 pm. The cost is $7. inclusive for tickets and transportation. Further information is available by calling us at 8-3306 or 8-3445. In order to insure a ticket, may we suggest a prompt reply.

Buzzell's answer was a masterpiece

Before former Town Manager Bouchard left for Michigan, he made three appointments of town officials, all to take effect after he left - a member of the Board of Health, the Town Treasurer, and a member of the Planning Board, the latter being in place of Bob Evans, whose term of office was to expire on June 15th.

Last week the Selectmen, prompted by Paul Niles, wrote a letter, asking for a clarification of the Town Manager's powers. They wanted to know if Mr. Bouchard, or any other Town Manager, had the power to appoint people after the effective date of his own resignation.

Buzzell's letter was read in the Selectmen's Meeting, Monday night. It stated:

This is in answer to your letter of June 7, inquiring as to the validity of certain appointments made by Mr. Bouchard prior to the effective date of his resignation. As to appointments made to positions in which a vacancy presently existed when the appointment was made, such appointments would unquestionably be valid, since his authority as town manager continued in full force until the effective date of his resignation.

As to appointments made to positions in which a vacancy did not presently exist, and which did not become vacant until after the effective date of his resignation, it is my opinion that any such appointment would not be valid. On the other hand, if the position was one as to which under the charter he had the right of removal as well as of appointment, and if the action he took could be construed as a removal, thus creating a presently existing vacancy, and a presently effective appointment to fill such vacancy, then the action would be valid. It may be necessary therefore to examine the circumstances of any such particular action in order to determine its validity.

If any such appointment is determined to be invalid, the position can be filled when the vacancy occurs by action of the then temporary or permanent town manager without regard to such prior ineffective appointment.

Yours very truly,
Philip B. Buzzell

Board of Appeal Decisions

The Board of Appeals, Tuesday night, handed down three decisions on recent cases. In two of the decisions the board had voted negatively, and in the third, that of Realtor Alan Fenton, the board granted the appeal.

Fenton's case, (18-65) was heard on May 4th. He was granted the right to erect a sign on his property, adjacent to his new real estate office on Lowell Street, with the provision that the sign be 18 square feet, be located within five feet of his building, and not closer than five feet from the sidewalk.

The board turned down the appeal of Harvey Lobdill, of 149 Walnut Street, Reading, to erect a machine shop on land that faces both on Eames Street and on Woburn Street.

Lobdill's case (19-65) was heard on May 18th. He wanted to construct a building which would be 50 feet wide and 80 feet long, and move his business from Stoneham.

There is 1.7 acres of land in the lot on which he wanted to build, but only 19.9 feet of frontage on Eames Street, and 40.8 feet of frontage on Woburn Street. Two abutters, Charles Graham and George McKiltrick, both of Eames Street, objected.

The board denied the appeal unanimously, saying that there was insufficient street frontage.

The third case (21-65) was heard on May 18th.

Paul E. Shea of West Street sought to divide a lot of land facing on West Street and Westdale Avenue into two lots. There is a frontage of 109 feet on West Street, and 246 feet on Westdale Avenue, and the lot has a total area of 27,025 square feet.

Shea told the board that his house faced on West Street, and that he hoped to cut off a 10,000 square foot lot, facing on Westdale Avenue. This lot, he said, would be of a size common to the area.

Building Inspector Minot Anderson said that there was insufficient frontage or depth to grant a building permit, without Board of Appeals approval. One abutter, Mr. Arbo, appeared in favor.

The board voted unanimously to deny the appeal, saying that, in their opinion the proposal was inconsistent with the zoning law, and would only serve to derogate from the purpose of the zoning by law.

The Selectmen' Meeting

$800 Lien for non-existent Water-main?

Bob Evans, North Wilmington farmer, is paying taxes for a street which the town has accepted, but which he still owns.

Mr. Evans also has had the dubious pleasure of having an $800 lien being placed on his property, by the town, for payment of a water main, on 'his' street which water main was never laid!

And a check for $1,000, which was supposed to have been used to pay Evans for his 'out-of-pocket' expenses in acquiring a section of the old Salem-Lowell Railroad, now part of Ainsworth Road, has been in the Town Counsel's office since November 1961.

The disclosures, by Evans, brought the Selectmen's meeting of last Monday to a point of hilarity, such as has not been enjoyed by the Selectmen in many months.

Telephone Book

The meeting began with a brief presentation by a representative of the telephone company, concerning the new method of listing Town Offices, already announced in some other communities.

The new method is to have the town offices listed in alphabetical order, and the listings will also appear in the Yellow Pages, under City (or Town) government.

The Selectmen were not interested. They had other things on their mind, but the representative wouldn't take No for an answer, and continued his discussion. He talked for about 15 minutes, and then left the meeting room, to talk with TM Peters.

Nichols Street Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Sullivan of Fairmeadow Road, Edward Royne formerly of New Hampshire Avenue, Louis Theriault of Nichols Street, and Charles McCann of Jere Road, presented themselves to the Selectmen, seeking relief of the problem of the Nichols Street bridge. Jerry Paglia, also of Nichols Street, now a member of the Board of Health, was present as an interested spectator.

Sullivan did most of the talking, although it became general. The group wanted a road cut through from Nichols Street to Lake Street using, perhaps, New Hampshire Avenue, and presented the Town Crier editorial of several weeks ago, which made this suggestion.

Their area had been cut off from the town, the Selectmen were told, a few weeks ago, when the bridge was being repaired.

Among the things cited was that school buses stopped at the bridge, and the children had to walk over the area being repaired, and that during a fire alarm a Wilmington fire engine had to go through Tewksbury to get to the Fairmeadow Road area.

Mrs. Sullivan was alarmed that houses were being built on Lake Street, about the point where the road would join, if it were constructed, and that perhaps there would not be a chance to build a road, before long.

The Town Engineer was called in, and asked to report on the situation. He was asked to determine whether or not it would be feasible, and what the cost would be. After a while, during the discussion, the cost of laying a water main was also made a part of the study.

Elia threw a curve

John Elia, of North Wilmington, 'threw a curve' in the Selectmen's meeting of a week ago (June 7th) but the effects were not felt until the Selectmen had a special meeting, last Thursday.

John had asked to have a gasoline license renewed, on the property which is part of his Elia's Country Market. The license dated back to 1934, but John had not paid anything on it for several years.

The Selectmen were going to try to vote on the application of James Florenza, for a gas station on Middlesex Avenue, opposite Shady Lane Drive.

The curve that Elia threw became apparent when Selectman Paul Niles wanted to settle the Elia license, before any decision was to be made on the Florenza license for a gas permit. It forced the postponement on the Florenza license until June 28th.

After a prolonged discussion the Selectmen decided to have a hearing to determine whether or not to revoke the permit of a gas station for John Elia. The hearing will be on June 28th.

Selectman Lloyd Bender questioned the ethics of postponing a decision of Florenza's permit because the application was submitted some time ago and he felt that the applications should be considered in chronological order. Joseph Courtney, attorney for Florenza who was present at the meeting, said that his client understands the problem involved and would 'bow to the judgement of the board'.

Also at the meeting, the board voted to grant a Sunday license to operate a grocery store to Arco Recchia.

Budd Zwicker lost 20 pounds in Santo Domingo

Two boys from Wilmington have been in service in Santo Domingo in recent weeks, one of these being Jack Walden of Glendale Circle, a paratrooper with the US Army, and the other being Ralph (Budd) Zwicker III, a corporal in the United States Marine Corps.

Zwicker has written three letters home, describing his part in the expeditionary force, with the last of them being written on the USS Raleigh, an ex airplane carrier, now assigned to the carriage of troops. The Raleigh is still in the Dominican Republic waters.

In a letter written on May 14th Zwicker said 'It was hell around here for the first 14 days. Now it is rather quiet. We landed here on the 28th and have been the assaulting element. I have had nine of my friends either killed or wounded. The thing that hurt most is that they do not count this as combat, so we do not rate combat pay, which is $60 more a month. I could sure use it.

The people down here are pretty good. The only thing is you don't know who's the good guy and who's the bad guy, until he starts shooting at you.

I was going to telephone home last night. I waited 5 hours and then we got word that there was a storm and we could not telephone long distance.

I hate to say it, but I've lost almost 20 pounds. Don't ask where, I don't know. These C Rations are just not filling, so do me a favor and SEND ME SOME FOOD.

There is one guy who got five dozen letters in one envelope.'

From aboard the USS Raleigh on June 4th Zwicker told how, when they were embarking, they could have the the dubious pleasure of seeing 5000 cases of beer go ashore for the men staying on the island.

He went on: 'I'm getting my humor back. For a time I was all nails - really needles and pins, and quite on edge, but now I'm relaxed, with just the thought of getting away from here. There isn't much happening - just the same old routine every day'.

Zwicker has hopes of returning to the United States about the end of June.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

Savignac, making a guess, said he figured the cost of a road in that area (approximately 2500 - 3000 feet long) would be in the neighborhood of $60,000.

Mrs. Drew didn't like to hear that news, but then when someone mentioned that the road could be constructed on the Betterment Plan she brightened up again.

Savignac was told to give a report to the Town Manager by Thursday.

Temple Shalom

A communication from Secretary of State Kevin S. White, told the Selectmen that Temple Shalom in North Wilmington, was incorporating.

Gas Station Nixed

By unanimous vote, the Selectmen denied a gas station license for the property across from De Moulas, and close to Bridge Lane. The hearing had been held on June 7th.

Industrial Brochure

TM Robert Peters reported that the Industrial Brochure, for which the town had appropriated money some time ago, was in the process of being put together. He pointed to a thin file on a shelf. He said there had been many enquiries, including the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce.

Selectman La Rivee suggested that someone on the board be appointed to work with the Town Manager, to get one made up.

Selectman Bender said that the former Town Manager was supposed to have gathered materials to give to a company which prepares brochures as a business.

Selectman Black spoke up to endorse this, saying (1) that the work should be done by professionals and (2) that the last brochure (which had been prepared about half a dozen years ago) was 'terribly amateurish'.

Paul Niles wanted to get started immediately.

Peters was told to contact Jack Latham, of Milk Street Boston, the person to whom Bouchard had originally been directed by Bender, and to expedite the getting of a brochure for industrial prospects.

Corey Pit

Peters told the Selectmen that he had been up in the neighborhood of Route 125, and had noticed two 'caterpillars' (Tractors - Ed.) moving gravel, in the vicinity of the Corey Pit, between Route 125 and Ainsworth Road. The pit is one of those dug during the 'gravel war' of 1958-59, and has since been acquired by Bob Corey of Dracut. Mr. Corey has been trying to fill in holes, and otherwise make the place more presentable.

Peters suspected that the caterpillars were working in town owned property, adjacent to the Corey pit, and sent the Town Engineer up to check.

Peters told the Selectmen that the Town Engineer had written him a letter saying that about 750 yards (worth about $150, ed.) had been moved from the town property into the Corey pit.

He advised the Selectmen that he would check with the Town Counsel as to the next step.

Bob Evans

John Robert Evans, better known as Bob Evans, of North Wilmington, paid another visit to the Board of Selectmen, a visit that was productive and at times hilarious.

Evans told the Selectmen that he had a letter from the Town Counsel, about the fact that nothing had been done about promised construction of Ainsworth Road. Buzzell thought that the matter should be cleared up.

In the ensuing discussion it turned out that Bob Evans had given the town the land, for Ainsworth Road, back in 1961, and had asked only that he be compensated for the $1,000 that he had given to the Boston & Maine Railroad, for the purchase of the old Lowell & Salem RR bed, which is now a part of Ainsworth Road.

The Town had accepted the road, and Insultab had built a plant there

---but Evans still owned the road. He was being taxed for it - he was paying insurance for it - but the town had never paid him anything.

Not only that, but Evans reported that the town had placed a lien on his property for $800, for a water main that had never been built, on his property for which the town had never paid. The spectators broke into a gale of laughter.

Bender recalled that on Evans' last visit, a 'former Selectman' had spoken at length and said that the town was really complying with the agreement because there was no time limit set for the work to be completed.

LaRivee stated that the town had made a commitment, and that it was up to the town to make good on it.

Niles, the newest member of the board, wanted to know what it was all about, and Mrs. Drew told him that the road was built for the Insultab Company, using the old railroad right of way.

It developed that, in addition to using the railroad bed, part of the land adjacent, some owned by the town, some by Evans, was to be used to make the road wider, and Evans told the Selectmen that the Town Engineer had been sent up there in the winter to make an estimate, but that it was obviously impossible to do so at that time.

Mr. Savignac, who was sitting nearby, offered an opinion that there was three feet of peat, in the sections adjacent to the railroad bed. His estimate of the cost of the road was $11,000.

There was also discussion about drainage, one or two ditches, beside the road.

Mr. Black couldn't see any sense to completing the road. He felt this was up to the Town Manager, the Highway Engineer, etc. to look into.

Evans stated that Mrs. Stromquist, the owner of Insultab, had written a check for $1,000, which was to reimburse Evans for the $1,000 he had given the railroad, and that this check was written on November 3, 1961, and had been sitting in a file in the Town Counsel's office ever since.

He added that nothing would really pay him for his time, over 15 years, in visiting the railroad office, in trying to effect the purchase, but all he was asking for was his payment.

Nile moved 'to start action', and Bender made another motion, directing the Town Manager 'to submit a report on the status of the agreement, and that the Town Engineer submit a report for a plan of action, or an alternative disposition of the problem'.

The vote was unanimous.

Ballardvale Street

Evans then turned the discussion to Ballardvale Street. He had, he said, given the town 5 1/2 acres of land, and there was an agreement that the town would put up a 'stock fence' which was estimated to cost $350, and which had never been done.

Bob Peters had been up on Ballardvale Road last week, and had noticed a lot of loam on the road, near the site of the fence about which Evans was asking.

He had written a letter to Evans about which all the Selectmen knew, but which Evans had not yet received, asking that the dirt be removed. He spoke about this letter, using the terms 'dirt and stones'. He was very serious in his conversation.

Evans looked at Peters in amazement, and Peters said that perhaps Evans had not received the letter yet, while the Selectmen grinned.

There was a look of recognition in Evans' face.

'Oh', he said, 'that's where I have been moving loam - and I put a couple of yards of loam down over the curbing, to make sure that I didn't damage it!'

The grins on the faces of the Selectmen expanded. 'You learned that at Tufts', Black said.

Evans continued to ramble on. He had removed the loam from the five and one half acres he had given the town, while the land was still his, and now he was transferring it to his yard. It was nice, he said, because where he now lived had been a gravel pit, and he was able, with the loam, to grow grass for his cattle.

The discussion wandered off, and the Selectmen never did think of telling the Town Manager just what they thought he should do.

Hazardous Buildings

Last September Lloyd Bender had suggested that the town make a list of the 'hazardous' buildings in town.

Nothing had happened, although there was talk of having the Building Inspector and the Fire Chief prepare such a list.

After his election Paul Niles brought up the point because of a building he had noticed on Grove Avenue, which he thought particularly dangerous.

Bob Peters had part of the long awaited report, Monday night. Several dozen places were listed. Niles examined it, and noted that it was not complete.

Peters agreed - 'You'll notice it says first part!'

LaRivee asked what could be done. Black pointed out that the town had accepted a chapter of the General Laws which allows for the destruction or disposal of dangerous buildings.

Niles moved that the Town Manager, Building Inspector and Fire Chief examine the property on Grove Avenue and do something about it, immediately.

Glen Road School

Peters reported that the damage to the Glen Road School (Town Crier, June 10, Page 11) amounted to $453.63, and because of the $1,000 Deductible Insurance, the town could not collect from the Insurance Company.

He was, however, sending the bill to the parents of the children involved.

Gus Walker

On suggestion of Mrs. Drew it was unanimously voted to send a letter of appreciation to Augustus C. Walker, former Chairman of the Board of Health, thanking him for his many years of service to the town. Bender added that this should be done as a matter of course, to any official who leaves in conditions that 'are happy'.

Burlington Avenue

Alphonse Savignac, Town Engineer, gave the Selectmen a copy of the proposed widening of Burlington Avenue, prepared by the County Engineers.

The proposed width is to be 50 feet, under the 'Chapter 90' provisions of the statutes.

Because of the many homes that are near to the street, the County Engineers had a problem, as shown by the layout. They were trying to improve the 'sighting distance' and make curves less abrupt, and at the same time stay away from front door steps.

In some places land will be 'taken' on both sides, and in other cases only on one side. There are three places with the taking being on one side only, being (1) opposite John Street, (2) opposite Wall Street, and (3) west of Beech Street, on the southerly side.

The Selectmen discussed the best manner to apprise the residents and land owners of the proposed plan.

They ended by planning a 'public hearing', probably in the Bowdoin Street School.

They will have an advertisement in the Town Crier, they will send post cards, and they will invite the County Commissioners and/or County Engineers to be present.

Charles Black said that he doubted that the Commissioners would appear, and Alphonse Savignac said he doubted if the Engineer would attend.

The work, the Selectmen hope, will be done in stages, and they have hopes of getting a start this year.

Last Discussions

Mr. LaRivee wanted to adjourn, and so moved, but the other Selectmen didn't listen.

Mrs. Drew requested that the Selectmen think of names for a new Jury List.

Bender asked the Town Manager to check with the Public Health Officer about Polio Clinics this summer.

Black mentioned a cable by the roadside at 'Fagan's Curve' on Clark Street. Peters said he would look at it in the morning, because he was going to inspect the area for drainage.

Niles noted that many people were swimming in 'Corey's Pit' on Route 62 (now the property of the Town). The signs forbidding trespassing had been taken down, he said, and cars were parking along the road. Peters said he would have the police check into it.

Bender suggested that the Town Manager check with the Red Cross for blood supplies, because the people in North Wilmington are soon going to be without blood, because of mosquitoes.

Peters said that thousands of dollars had been spent on mosquito spraying, and that the Superintendent of the Moth Department had ordered another $750 in supplies on Monday. It doesn't do much good, he said, because the rain washes away the spray.

Niles suggested that they check into other methods of mosquito control, next year.

Mrs. Drew reported that there were, to date, 24 applications for Town Manager.

The Board went into executive session at 10 pm.

The altar was decorated with white carnations, and snap dragons and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Herbert A. Jerauld, in a candlelight setting. The soloist was Mr. John Marabito of Reading, who sang 'O Perfect Love' and three other appropriate pieces. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Christine Olson, sister of the bride, served as her Maid of Honor, and the Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Slater of Wilmington a friend of the bride, and her cousin, Miss Carol Tate of Milton.

Miss Olson's gown was of white antique satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, a Sabrina neckline, and long tapered sleeves. Appliques of chantilly lace, reembroidered with pearls, also adorned the bodice and her full skirt, which went into a chapel train. Her French Illusion veil fell from a Swedish crown of pearls and crystals, and she carried a cascade of white miniature carnations, stephanotis, baby's breath, and ivy, centered with a white orchid.

The Maid of Honor and the Bridesmaids wore powder blue organza sheaths, with full floor length overskirts, accented in the back by a butterfly bow. They wore matching flower-trimmed picture hats and carried May baskets filled with yellow miniature carnations and blue delphinium, with streamers of ribbons and carnations.

The Flower Girl was dressed in a yellow organdy dress, with a headpiece of yellow and blue flowers and she carried a small May basket.

After the ceremony a reception was held in Moose Hall, in North Reading. A large centerpiece of flowers, and bud vases, were on the head table, and each of the tables had assorted flowers in bud vases. A three piece orchestra provided the music.

The bride's mother was gowned in a Tropic-Rose sheath dress of lace and crepe, with matching shoes and hat, and wore a white miniature carnation, while in the reception line, and the mother of the groom was in a blue dress of lace and chiffon, with matching hat and shoes, and wore a sash of cymbidium orchids.

For her going away costume the bride chose an Aqua wool suit, with a A-line skirt, and matching linen blouse, a matching hat of aqua and pink flowers, and she wore a white orchid.

The honeymoon was spent at Niagara Falls, and touring Canada and the Adirondacks. The couple are now making their home in Stoneham.

URBAN RENEWAL (Fr. Front Page)

old volcano, opposite Marion Murphy's real estate office) is mostly sandy.

Brain Child

Webber's role in the development of the plan was revealed as Epstein answered a question by Planning Board member James Miceli.

Miceli asked 'Whose Brain Child?' and Epstein answered 'Stan Webber'.

Webber went on from there, and described how he had worked on it in 1961, and then, 'unfortunately, I was unable to continue'.

In prior years the land was subject to a clearance effort by a Somerville firm, which spent some thousands of dollars trying to get clear titles to all the small lots of land, and then gave up in disgust, Webber said. He added that the passage of the new law, in 1964, cleared the way.

The property is not far distant from the MDC sewer line on Woburn Street, and plans have been made to bring the sewer line to Eames Street, so that the area could be serviced. This, Webber said, could not be counted as a part of the Urban Renewal development.

The town would be called upon to vote for this, after everything had been prepared, Webber said, but he anticipated that the problem would not be the same as in the previous vote of a few years ago, when Urban Renewal was proposed for the Wilmington Square section.

Most of the land is now owned by the town - with much of the remaining land having legal problems of a type that will cause the owners to be glad to have Urban Renewal clear up the questions. There are only two small homes in the area, Webber stated.
